Dear Affiliate Leadership:

Please Participate in APHA'S Public Health ACTION Campaign During the Month-Long August Congressional Recess.

How can you participate in this campaign? This message comes with an urgent plea to meet with your local members of Congress while they are in their district offices and participating in events in the community like town hall meetings, fundraising events, parades, etc., during the month-long August Congressional Recess.

When? Members of the House and Senate will be home from July 31st - September 4th.

What is available to me for these events? Below you will find a message from the American Public Health Association's Government Relations Staff regarding this important advocacy effort, including a link to a webpage with dedicated materials you can download before meetings with your members of Congress, attending a town hall meeting or other events.

Why is your participation important? As public health professionals you understand the importance of maintaining funding for public health programs. Health related expenditures far outweigh the amount of money going towards cost effective means of assuring American can live longer, healthy productive lives. Whether you work with environmental, maternal and child, chronic disease, epidemiology, emergency preparedness, nutrition, oral health, adolescent health, HIV/AIDS, or one of the many other public health programs, your input is extremely important. As an affiliate and state health association leader, you must assure that funding capacity remains. This is a critical time to act. A visit, call or email to your Representative and/or Senator is extremely important. (On the website provided, there are more details on how to set these meetings up, how to speak at a town hall meeting, or how to call your member's office.)

The result? You can help save public health dollars and resources. Improving and protecting the health of the public is all of our jobs. You can start today by making that visit, call or send an email to your member of Congress. You may also hear from APHA Section/SPIG/Caucus members that live in your area to see if it's possible to coordinate visits with your members.

Please inform us of your actions and successes. Feel free to contact Kate Sweeney in the Government Relations Department of APHA at (202) 777-2513 or kate.sweeney@apha.org. Thanks and good luck!

Sincerely,

Marc D. Hiller Kathy Gorosh

Re: August Congressional Recess Activities for APHA Members

The month-long August Congressional Recess is fast approaching. Members of the House and Senate will be home from July 31st - September 1st. This is a great opportunity for you to meet with your members of Congress while they are in their district offices and participating in events in the community like town hall meetings, election events, receptions and parades.

During this recess, we need your help advocating on the following priority public health issues pending in Congress:

1. Funding Public Health: With the budget and appropriations process still underway, it is vitally important for your members of Congress to hear from you about the devastating impact of the proposed budget cuts to public health programs - and why they must support restoring the budget to FY05 levels. As you know, in addition to last year's devastating cuts, the President's budget proposed cutting funding for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) by more than 2% and the Health Resources Services Administration (HRSA) by almost 5%. The budget currently being considered in both the House & Senate restores some funding but still eliminates or entirely cuts several important public health programs like the Preventive Health & Health Services Block Grant, HRSA Health Professions Grant Programs, and those that address chronic disease prevention.

2. Support Initiatives to Improve Health and the Built Environment: The Healthy Places Act of 2006, introduced during National Public Health Week this year by Senator Barack Obama (D-IL) and Representative Hilda Solis (D-CA), brings together all levels of government to address environmental health issues that adversely affect health. Please ask your Senators and Representative to cosponsor this bill. These environmental health issues affect many aspects of public health, including chronic and preventable disease, access to preventative health care, and nutrition and obesity.

We have developed materials on both of these issues (including sample meeting request letters, advocacy tips, talking points, and fact sheets) on this site:

<http://www.apha.org/legislative/walkhill/>

Please go to this website to view:

- * A list of public events and town hall meetings across the country
- * Tools on how to schedule meetings with legislators
- * Talking points on these issues
- * Tips on meeting with legislators
- * Printable materials to leave with the legislator, including fact sheets on state specific funding
- * A follow-up form to send back to APHA

We view this recess as an essential opportunity to deliver our messages for these vital public health programs and bills. Your participation is invaluable and will greatly improve APHA's visibility, and ultimately, our impact in advocating for these programs.

Here are some steps to help you and your members participate in these activities. In addition, we will be following up to offer additional assistance and support.

Five easy steps to attending a meeting with your Senator or Rep's office during August:

1: Identify your Members of Congress:

<https://ssl.capwiz.com/apha/dbq/officials/>

2: Go to the calendar section of the APHA PHACT Campaign website:

www.apha.org/legislative/walkhill/aphaadvocacy/ to see if a meeting has already been scheduled, email people listed if you want to coordinate visits. On this calendar you will also find public events hosted by members of congress, including town hall meetings, parades, campaign event barbeques, etc. where you as an APHA member and constituent can attend. We are also creating a new system so when someone schedules a meeting with a Congressperson they email Kate Sweeney at kate.sweeney@apha.org.

3: If a visit to your Senators or Rep. is not on the calendar already, call their offices to arrange your own visit during the month.

4: Email Kate Sweeney at kate.sweeney@apha.org so she can add your visit to the calendar.

5: Fill out feedback form after the meeting and submit it via the electronic form: <http://www.zoomerang.com/recipient/survey-intro.zgi?p=WEB225GKPU8U9D>

Thanks,
APHA Government Relations Staff

PANDEMIC INFLUENZA - AMERICAN RED CROSS 1918

Below is an interesting portion of a communication from a Red Cross nurse:

I am writing by fits and starts, as I can snatch a minute off to jot down our needs, hoping that the situation might be clear to you, and that you will be able to get us some supplies before we get snowed in for the winter. Our greatest need (next to fruit and malted milk) is feeding cups and drinking tubes, which we can't get at Winnemucca (the nearest town). We also need lots of gauze or cheese cloth and cotton for pneumonia jackets; also rubber sheeting, and quantities of old rags to be used and burned also gallons of formaldehyde if we are to stamp out the disease as everything is thrown on the ground, and will thaw out next spring and release all these germs again. - Red Cross influenza nurse-Denio, Oregon, 1918.

It can be valuable to study past disaster response techniques and practices. We learn what might have been successful and about the human endeavors involved. While there are few public health "after action" reports from the 1918 pandemic influenza, the American Red Cross has a web page dedicated to these historical perspectives.
